Protocol partly resolves customs problems between Russia and Turkey

Nuclear Power Plant Tender ends in Failure

Due to the difficulties of finding credit in the current unstable financial climate, 4 of the 13 companies who purchased the tender documents for the Mersin Akkuyu nuclear power plant asked for an extension of the September deadline. Their request for a six month extension was refused by the treasury. Consequently, the only proposal submitted by the deadline came from a consortium led by Russia's Atoms troy export and Inter Rao, together with Turkey's Park Teknik Group. It was reported in the Financial Times that Turkey has suffered a setback in its efforts to reduce a costly dependence on energy imports by not extending the deadline.
